Why participate in ASBOF ONLINE?

The ASBOF Online Event was instituted during the global COVID pandemic to provide students with suitable performance goals and to ensure school music programs remained active and viable. The ASBOF Online event:

- Gives students an authentic performance opportunity
- Provides each ensemble with an audio recording of the adjudication/feedback on their performance from our panel of internationally renowned music educators
- Allows you to benchmark your ensemble against similar music programs from schools across Australia and international schools
- Provides an option to receive a Gold, Silver, or Bronze award plaque from the prestigious Australian School Band and Orchestra Festival
- Provides the opportunity to have your performance included in any official streaming of the Festival Online event (subject to entries and staffing)
- Let's you check out what other schools are doing from across Australia and around the globe
- Is fun while you learn!

The ASBOF is a non-competitive event which has education as its focus

- 1.2. Entries will close as per the dates on the Festival website.
- 1.3. Entry close dates are negotiable for international entries. Please contact us to discuss your situation.

2. Recording your performance

- 2.1. All schools will be required to record their performance in video format.
- 2.2. Students should be attired in their school or performance uniform.
- 2.3. The manner in which the students conduct themselves on the video (posture, attentiveness to the Music Director etc) will be taken into account in the final adjudication.
- 2.4. While it is acknowledged that some schools may wish to use this opportunity to produce a high-quality video for promotional purposes, a professional standard recording is not expected. Schools should simply endeavour to provide the highest quality recording and video quality possible.
- 2.5. Ideally, the video should clearly show all ensemble participants, unless there are child safeguarding issues for not doing so.
- 2.6. The video for each piece must not be edited in any way (see 2.7), apart from tidying up the start and finish, and must run continuously from beginning to end of the musical performance.
- 2.7. If gathering/physical distancing restrictions apply at the time of your recording it is permissible for Music Directors to film each section separately and combine the videos to create final product. Please advise us upon submitting your entry.

- 2.8. The performance should be an acoustic performance. No microphones for individual instrument or mixing should be used except vocalists performing with big bands and where it is appropriate for an amplified instrument such as a keyboard, guitar, or bass guitar.
- 2.9. The Music Director should clearly introduce the school/ensemble, themselves, and the name of each piece at the start of the recording.
- 2.10. There will be no disadvantage or penalty for the quality of the recording, however, an appreciably poor sound quality may prevent the adjudicator from providing meaningful feedback.
- 2.11. All existing Festival Conditions, including tutors being prohibited from performing with ensembles etc, should be observed. Please download the ASBOF Online Conditions from our website.
- 2.12. Individual pieces may be recorded on separate files, however, the final file to be uploaded should consist of a maximum of two files. File 1: Australian Composition. File 2: All other program pieces. See below for specific information regarding your files.

3. Two files required – Record a separate file for your Australian selection

- 3.1. If we proceed with an online streaming/performance component of the Online ASBOF, it will only consist of each ensemble's Australian composition.

 - File 2 – All other pieces from your program
